Would You Like To Earn Living Giving Away $$? Janice Does

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP)—How would you like to earn a living giving away money?

Sound easy?

"It has its problems," says Janice Gilbert, who is known as "Miss Moneybags" in the entertainment world.

In the last seven years she has handed out more than $2,000,000 to contestants as the paying teller of "Break the Bank," one of the pioneer radio (ABC) and television (CBS) network quiz programs.

The trouble with this otherwise pleasant chore is that many in the audience fail to realize Janice is merely a paid performer, dishing out the sponsor's dough. They persist in regarding her as a privately wealthy "lady bountiful" with a philanthropic urge to shower her own money on people who are able to give the name of the national anthem or tell who killed Cock Robin.

Weird Propositions

"It is weird—really sometimes frightening," she said.

Three times she has had to change her telephone number because of the people who call her—sometimes in the middle of the night—to ask for financial help. Last year she received requests for aid from 327 charitable agencies, including "an organization to help indigent wayfarers in Arkansas."

Too Much Fluoride Troubles Town

CHESTER, Va. (UP)—While communities around the country are adding fluorides to their water supplies to prevent tooth decay, Chester has a different problem: getting the fluoride out.

There's so much fluoride in the community well that the county health department has to dilute the water so it will contain no more than two parts of fluoride to one million parts of water.

A Chester dentist, Lawrence G. Mathews, who advocates water fluoridation himself, was surprised to learn about the situation. Dr. Lawrence said tooth decay among Chester children is "about as bad as anywhere else."
